SUPERVISORS IN PROMISE PUT IN A FAIR EXHIBIT

The Nevada county board of supervisors intend to install a mineral exhibit at the coming state fair this fall, so they told Frank H. McConnell, representing the Staten Agricultural Society, early last week and space will be allotted in the large brick exhibit palace. Sierra county last week similarly voted to exhibit, which is a thing greatly to be desired with the awakening interest in gold mining particularly in this part of the state.

It has been some years since Nevada county has carried an exhibit at the state fair which has a considerable advertising value with the thousands of people who visit the great show that California stages each fall. Nevada county will be in good company as over fifty other counties will have exhibits this year. So far as known no one has been appointed to the task of assembling and maintaining the exhibit.

The supervisors are to be highly commended on their willingness to make the coming fair one long to be remembered as the 75th annual event, and also to have a headquarters where former Nevada countians can meet.

MOUNT ALTA PROPERTY IS SOLD BY CHATFIELD

One of the most important mining deals to take place in Sierra County for some time was consummated this week when the Eastman Consolidated Gold Mines Company of San Jose purchased the Mount Alta and the Pleasant View placer properties near Sleighville House above Camptonville.

This property was sold by C. N. Chatfield, who recently acquired the Pleasant View property. Mr. Chatfield has owned and operated the Mount Alta group of claims for a number of years.

The property consists of seven claims, four in the Mount Alta, containing 335 acres, and three in the Pleasant View group, with 240 acres, all adjoining. There is a tunnel 3100 feet long on the Mount Alta, and one 1750 feet long on the Pleasant View, these being drift mines. In ordinary seasons there is plenty of water available for operation.

During previous development of the Mount Alta Mine Chatfield and associates took out about $45,000 in a period covering three years, he said. A portion of the old channel 650 feet long by 250 wide was worked, all pay being taken out on high ground.

About 3000 feet north of the face of the main tunnel and 13000 feet southwest is virgin gravel, which the new owners will work.

Chatfield ran a tunnel 1300 feet through solid rock to the first raise, and then 23 feet to gravel. The gravel on high ground was rich, but later as bedrock dipped, the pay was lost. Work continued along the channel, however, and finally bedrock raised again. It was at this point in the operations that the San Jose people became interested. The new owners are large operators, who will develop the property on a big scale and a crew of men is to be put to work immediately. This will mean much to that section of the county and will help to lend confidence to other projects.—The Messenger.

BERT COSTELLO PASSES

Bert costello of Truckee, an inmate of the county hospital passed away Saturday night. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at two o'clock from the Holmes Funeral Home and interment will be in Pine Groe cemetery.

Andrew Carey, while doing working with his brother ,George, on their Mt. Oro mining property had the misfortune to break a rib early in the week.

Mrs. E. C. Uren has as a guest her sister-in-lay, Mrs. Charles Uren of Berkeley.

Julius Olsen of Washington was in Nevada City Thursday.

HIWAY CONSTRUCTION PROGRESSING FAST

Construction on the Tahoe Ukiah state highway eastward is progressing well on schedule. The two gas shovels are on hillside work about three miles east of town. There is a stretch of lava capping at the E. J. Pollard place which is being blasted which the shovels had to pass up. A concrete bridge has been built over the Snow Mountain ditch at this point.

The old Manzanita ditch abandoned some years ago has been filled up at several points.

Contractor C. R. Adams has been generous with everyone that wanted wood for the hauling to get it off the right of way and a number of wood dealers have been enriching their stock as a result. It is probable that the present prices will remain, however, so that the customers will not be any ahead in the bargain.

Clearing of the right of way is well along for the twelve mile stretch and will make a wonderfully scenic highway for the entire route. There is but little curvature the entire route and with the pavement 20 feet wide will make it especially attractive to the motorists.

MOHAWK MINE TO BE REOPENED THIS WEEK

Word from Yakima, Washington. is to the effect that the Mohawk mine is to reopen this week with sinking operations in the new shaft which had gotten into hard ground at the time it was shut down until a compressor could be installed. The company has properties also in Plumas and Amador counties.

POWER LINE IS PROMISED EAST BELT MILL AT CHAMPION IS NEARLY READY

The announcement made by the Pacific Gas and Electric company that it intends to build an extension of the Alleghany line into the Poorman creek country at an early date to serve the Spanish group of mines with an estimated power load of 200 horsepower, and to run feeder lines to the Ancho, Twin Sister, German Bar, and Gaston properties has a great deal of significance for the future of the East Belt of Nevada county which has suffered for many years from a lack of cheap and dependable power the year around.

This paper in past issues has pointed out the great need of a power line to serve that district and has lent every effort to bring about the building of such a line this season. The joining in the movement of Fred W. Bradley has had much to do with the progress made in the negotiations and to him particularly is that section of the county indebted.

The great mineral possibilities of the district running from Washington to Graniteville and on to Alleghany have never been adequately developed and with power available it is expected that great activity will be noted in the next few years.

The power company has had its surveyors in the field for some time and they have projected a line running from the present terminus of the Alleghany line at the Irelan mine on the Middle Yuba, across that stream to the German Bar and Twin Sister properties and thence a few miles to the Spanish group. Feeder lines to the Gaston and Ancho properties are a simple proposition. The cost of the extension is estimated in excess of $27,000.

BALD MOUNTAIN MINE BONDED BY CAPITALISTS

With the bonding this week by Los Angeles capitalists of the Bald Mountain and the South Fork placer mines ,who will immediately begin work on these long-dormant properties, mining in the vicinity of Forest will receive an impetus that will mean a revival of the industry resembling former times, when the now quiet little town of Forest was an important, hustling young city. It will mean an awakening and a forward stride that will be reminiescent of the busy history making days when millions were being taken from the Ruby and the City of Six and the diggings at Eureka.

The Bald Mountain, owned by Norman McGregor of Downieville and associates, joins the South Fork and the two can be operated together as one property. These mines are located right in the town of Forest and are on the ancient river channel which made the City of Six Mine and the Eureka diggins famous.

The Bald Mountain Mine has lain dormant for 46 years. It has a tunnel two miles long, from which in former times a small locomotive hauled gravel to the outside to be washed. Paralleling this tunnel, directly overhead is another tunnel, which was used for conveying air into the lower tunel. The engineer of the locomotive would fire up outside and when he got steam up would dash into the tunnel, hook up to a loaded train of cars and speed out to fresh air with his burden.

The South Fork Mine was worked at a later date, but it, too, has been dormant for a long time. These mines have produced millions in the past and were still far from being worked out when operations ceased.

A crew of men is on the ground and development work will go forward immediately, it is reported.—The Messenger.

Burr W. West of Oakland spent last week end with his wife in Nevada City. She is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Salmon have had as guests her sister, Mrs. and Mr. J. C. Wiggan, and daughters, Villa and Rachel and Melvin Young of Vallejo.

Ignition Parts and Accesories at Miner's Foundry. 24tf

The new five stamp mill being erected on the Champion property west of town will be ready to commence operations within the next few days according to William Sharp and William Rockfeller, who are operating under a lease from Gordon M. Bettles.

An open cut sixty feet wide will be run through the mill at the outset and if it holds up in values as prospects indicates a considerable quantity of material will be run through. There are four veins presumed to exist in the area to be milled according to surface croppings and conditions appear promising to procure good returns.

The old Wyoming drift has been opened up for some distance and has been found in good condition generally. There is a small cave a little distance in from the adit. The drift will be continued through on the Wyoming vein as there is some virgin ground ahead, and crosscuts will be run to the west where but little work has been done in the past.

The work is being run on a tributing basis by Mr. Bettles, who still has some available territory for miners wishing to get it. A number of leasers are at work at present and an excellent showing is being made.

LACK OF POWER HOLDS UP ANCHO OPERATIONS

Operations at the Ancho mine have been held up owing to the lack of sufficient water to operate the power plant. A skeleton crew is being maintained at the mine to ship the concentrates and overhaul the equipment. A nice sized brick representing the last six weeks' operations was brought down by general manager Gordon M. Bettles the past week to be shipped to the mint.

The expected power line into the Poorman creek country will relieve a distressing situation for the East Belt mines generally. Its early construction will accomplish a great deal for that district.

FROM OUR READERS

Kirby Thomas, Mining Engineer, New York City—"The several copies of the Annual number have been received by me and I desire to acknowledge my appreciation of this publication and to assure you that your endeavors in this very important field are appreciated by outsiders who are interested in the successful realization of the large possibilities of California's famous gold mining camp. If you have not sent a copy of the publication to the Engineering Societies Library, 29 West 39 Street, N. Y. C., I would suggest that you do so as it will be very much appreciated".

TAX MEASURE EXPLAINED

William Boucher, Sacramento manager for the California Development Asociation, addressed the members of the board of supervisors and a few guests invited by the Nevada County Promotion Board at a luncheon at the National Hotel Tuesday noon, on consitutional amendment No. 21, which is destined to return to Nevada and other counties large sums of tax moneys paid into the state treasury by the public utility corporations on which the counties have been receiving no returns. J. A. Curnow presided over the meeting in the absence of president H. W. Robinson.

DOWNIEVILLE HIGHWAY TO BE GIVEN OIL COAT

The Downieville state highway from Nevada City is to be given an oil coat commencing in the next few days which will eliminate the dust nuisance this summer and also hold the excellent surface. The highway out of Nevada City which under the excellent maintenance supervision of I. W. Musfield of North San Juan is at present in the finest of shape and with the oil surfacing will be a regular boulevard for travel.

The highway between Downieville and Sierra City is to be closed to all travel from July 15th to August 15th while heavy construction is under way between Sierra City and Lady Canyon on the new government highway which is under contract to A. J. Fairbanks of Willits. This will be quite a disadvantage to travel but it is not possible to arrange any detours due to the narrowness of the canyon.

DISTRICT SEEKS SALE OF WATER TO SACRAMENTO

This week at Sacramento representatives of the farming interests of Nevada county will appear before the Chamber of Commerce there and urge that the City of Sacramento enter into a contract with the irrigation district to buy waer at a point near Newcastle and save what has been termed impending doom for the district.

The following is reprinted in part from the Sacramento Union of Saturday's issue:

The proposal as outlined provides that the Nevada Irrigation District will furnish water at Newcastle, in the lower end of the district, from which point the city will be called upon to pipe it into Sacramento and to the water mains here. The distance from Newcastle to Sacramento is approximately 28 miles.

The construction of reservoir gates, pipe lines and all other buliding requirements will cost approximately $4,000,000, according to the estimates of engineers of the district.

The Nevada irrigation district will guarantee to furnish the city of Sacramento up to 75,000,000 gallons of water daily at a cost of one cent per thousand gallons over a period of 15 years. The supply, it was declared, would be adequate for a city three times the size of Sacramento.

The district will also maintain that the city of Sacramento can acquire water rights in the mountain area adjacent to the watershed which supplies the irrigation district with its present supply.

Within the 15-year period, engineers will set forth, the city will have developed a water supply from its own watershed which will assure Sacramento an adequate supply of pure mountain water in perpetuity. By utilizing a part of the Nevada irrigation district, together with its own improvements, Sacramento within 15 years, would have its own distribution plant from the source of supply without depending in any way on the water of the irrigation district.

Directors of the Nevada irrigation district are frankly intensely interested in the proposal to sell water to the city of Sacramento. At the present time the district says it has a large oversupply of water, and this condition, according to engineers employed by the district, will continue for years to come.

The Nevada irrigation district at the present time is in financial straits. Its bondholders are becoming restive. They want some concrete proof that the district can pay out.

The sale of water to the city of Sacramento offers the only certain and speedy relief, directors declared yesterday. If some assurance is given that the city of Sacramento is interested in the proposal, the bondholders can be placated.

If the proposal does not meet with favor, there is every chance that the Nevada irrigation district will go into receivership, and the farmers who have spent years in building up the agricultural development of those sections of Nevada and Placer counties stand a chance of losing their farms, it was declared.

According to engineers of the district, at the initial cost of approximately $4,000,000, the city of Sacramento can be assured of a more than adequate supply of water; can maintain its present filtration plant for emergency purposes; can take care of its present water bonds and the $4,000,000 in bonds which it would be asked to vote and still deliver water to the consumers at a less cost to the city than at present.

It is estimated that during the 15-year period the city will be called upon to spend roughly $3,000,000 more in order to obtain its permanent water supply from the Yuba watershed. Engineers claim this cost could be met during the period out of the general fund and without necessitating another bond election.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Breese have returned from Oakland.

COZY CORNER CHAT

MANY PEOPLE probably do not realize the strategic location that Nevada City enjoys as the hub of a large number of highways radiating in different directions. With two state highways both connecting with trans-continental routes it will not be many years before Nevada City will see a great flow of tourist travel in and out of town. The Tahoe Ukiah route to the east when completed will offer a wonderful panorama of scenic beauty that once travelled will want to be travelled again and again. Being built to modern engineering standards, it will be one of the finest highways that California possesses. We have been promised that the improvement work will be extended into Bear Valley at an early date and on to a connection with the Victory Highway near Crystal Lake, a stretch of some 17 miles from the eastern terminus of the present contract.

THE LARGE CALL for houses to accomodate the growing population of Nevada City is already making itself felt. There should be a lot of new homes built here and a summer cabin camp or two would help greatly. The housing situation is going to be acute unless something is done in the building line in the next year or so. The low rents in vogue in years past have been a natural deterrent to building operations. The natural law of supply and demand will rectify this condition. There are a number of old properties which could be renovated at comparatively slight expense and would pay good returns on the investment.

THE PENDING REMOVAL of the former Bettencourt building next to the city hall on the west will take an old fire menace from the business district and the city trustees are to be commended for their move in this regard. There are a number of fire traps which ought to be condemned for the good of the town.

A BUSINESS MAN was remarking the other day that there was too much Nevada City money being spent out of town and that more of it ought to be spent with local merchants. We heartily agreed with him as that is the problem that every town has to face continually with these days of good roads and quick travel. The isolation of the small town has been broken up. The great problem of the small town merchant is to put forth every effort to keep money at home. If Nevada City money is being spent elsewhere there must be a reason. There is business men's money doubtless being spent outside for advertising and printing that could well be spent in Nevada City, so No town can grow and prosper unless there is an intense feeling of loyalty for home town institutions which are alive and awake to the necessity of building up the town. Every merchant particularly owes it to his own town to keep all his customers' money in circulation locally that he can and then he is in an excellent position to feel bad if he sees a lot of money getting out of local circulation, and not being spent in his store. There are nearly eighty places of business, civic clubs, and professional men in Nevada City and yet less than thirty of this number are to be found in the advertising columns of The Nugget, Nevada City's own newspaper, which is the best answer to the complaint of money being spent outside. This proportion doubtless holds true in Grass Valley and many other towns. The condition can easily be remedied by a larger spirit of loyalty and a greater measure of cooperation to keep money at home.

SOMETHING OUGHT to be done in carrying out the provisions of the traffic ordinance enacted last year. The marking of the streets is not a burdensome task and with the growing amount of traffic with lot in handling traffic congestion. The boulevard stop signs were a good movement but with no officers on regular duty, many of them are but a useless ornament, with but slight attention paid to them. AAW summer coming on it would help a

PORT WINE DISTRICT IS SHOWING ACTIVITY

Supervisor A. J. Modglin of Port Wine was displaying some fine specimens of heavy placer gold this week while attending the meeting of the Supervisors at the count seat. The nuggets came from the Wild Rose Placer mine at Port Wine, of which Mr. Modglin and his brother, J. A. Modglin, are the operators. The largest piece weighed $47.60, and another specimen one and a half ounces.

Mr. Modglin states that indications point toward a prosperous season this year in that district. Several properties that have been dormant for a considerable time are making preparations for resuming operations, and other properties are to be developed at once.

Mining in the Port Wine district has taken on new activity, which it is expected will soon spread to other districts.—The Messenger.

ALASKA MINE AT PIKE IS BEING EXAMINED

Word reaching Downieville this week is to the effect that parties have been investigating the Alaska Mine at Pike with a view to purchasing it. This is said to be one of the richest mines in the state, which was shut down on account of a subterranean stream being encountered, which so interfered with the development of the property that work was discontinued. If engineers discover a way to overcome this handicap the property will no doubt resume operations again.—The Messenger.

BLACK QUICKSILVER ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Two special mineral forms in which mercury occur, and in which the ore croppings may have a black surface, are being studied by the Rare and Precious Metals Experiment Station of the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce, in cooperaion with the University of Nevada, Reno, Nevada.

Many operators have held that the only commercial quicksilver ore is easily recognized by its cinnabar content. In most cases this is true. A noticeable exception is a particular opalite deposit where part of the ore now being mined in considerable tonnage shows only the yellow mineral, calomel, or its alteration products. This yellow mineral on exposure to the surface quickly becomes coated with gray or black layers that may be removed by scraping to reveal the yellow mineral beneath.. The blackening of this mercuric chloride on exposure to sunlight shows reaction to form metallic mercury, which is usually plainly present in this class of ore.

Another form of mercury in opalite ores is the black sulphide which may be formed on long surface exposure of the red sulphide.

The red sulphide mineral, cinnabar, is usually stable but in amorphous condition on long exposure to the atmosphere slowly changes to the black face. The prospector need only break this surface to expose the characteristic red of cinnabar or yellow calomel.

In view of the present activity in the prospecting for and development of quicksilver deposits, the Bureau of Mines is conducting a general study of the economics and metallurgy of this metal.

CHARLES MERRILL TALKS ON MINES OF STATE

Addressing the San Francisco Commonwealth Club's Section on Mineral Resources recently, Charles W. Merrill said that the mining industry has now grown to such proportions that the value of fabricated products to the consumer equals that of all the produce of farms and forests.

Yet, he continued, mining has not altogether established itself on a sound economic foundation. Under the urge to produce, wasteful practices have often been followed.

Mining is the source of our present wealth, but are not our mineral resources also the basis of our future security?

The results of organized investigation should be presented to the mining world in useful form. This has been much discussed but without tangible results except in restricted fields of endeavor.

A balanced program, in which the mineral industry receives proper recognition to an extent which will make possible the development of needed mineral products, to supply enterprises not flourishing at present, will add opportunity for those not now enjoying their full proportion of this State's prosperity.

Due to increased mechanization in agriculture and other industries, many skilled workers must find employment in other lines. No better field for activity looking to the solution of this great problem can be found than that of bringing to light these mineral resoures which are still hidden.

The future prosperity of California depends to a large degree upon the development of her vast store of mineral wealth to supply and initiae demands of manufacuring and industry.

The population is increasing at the rate of about 500,000 annually, resulting in greater requirements of different minerals by the industries of this region.

Mrs. Mary Dose came up from San Francisco to visit with relatievs and old time friends for a few days.

Direct telephone service from London to Vienna, recently established via the underground cables laid by the Austrian government from Vienna to the Austrian frontier, has improved the service so that calls can now be put through within three or four minutes.

Thirty years ago there were 10,613 telephones in the state of Connecticut. Today there are more than twenty-nine times that number—over 300,000.

CAVIN METHODS IN METAL MINES STUDIED

A study of caving methods in metal mining is a feature of a general investigation of mining methods in the metal mines in the United States now being conducted by the United Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce.

The Southwest Experiment Station of the Bureau, Tuscon, Arizona, in cooperation with the University of Arizona, is making a study of the caving method of mining at the large porphyry mines of Arizona. Information Circular 6107, already published, deals with mining practice at the Morenci Branch of the Phelps Dodge Corporation, Morenci, Ariz. A paper on mining at the Ray mines of the Nevada Consolidated Copper Co., Ray, Ariz., by Robert W. Thomas, is almost completed.

Undercut block-caving methods are in use at both of these mines. However, due largely to the different conditions of occurrence of the ore at the two places, the present methods differ in several important respects, as for example, undercutting. Undercutting practice at Morenci consists of driving a grid work of small drifts. When the pillars between drifts are blasted out, the ore above caves. At Ray undercutting consists of alternate small shrinkage stopes and pillars. When the pillars are blasted, the ore above likewise caves. Such difference probably will be found at the other mines to be studied and material for intersecting and valuable studies as related to ore occurrence and extraction obtained.

Telephone service has been opened between Roumania and Bulgaria.

Mrs. N. A. Ramsey and Mrs. John Tognarelli and her daughter, Catherine, left Wednesday for a visit in Oakland.

FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

FRENCH CORRAL, June 8, (Special to The Nugget)— Well, May's electric parting of lightning, hail, and rain came, and the first day and night of "lovely June" is here, but so far the "perfect days" are an intermingling of sunshine, clouds and showers.

"Just right" weather for driving cattle, three large droves of which passed through this week enroute to mountain pastures. They were owned by Miller, Robinson and others.

When we stop to think of the great values in different kinds of property that pass through our little town during the week, we realize that French Corral is filling an important niche in this great world after all. So many times too it is convenient for the passersby to obtain needed supplies,—and then the hospitality of our people to all. Evene the hungry stray can always find a home.

Miss Frences Moulton returned to her home in French Corral Friday after finishing her school duties for the term in North Bloomfield.

E. Sutherland left for Nome, Alaska, Saturday. Mr. Sutherland is a mining man and has spent many years in Alaska. For the past two years he and his family have been residents of French Corral. The family will remain here during his absence.

W. E. Moulton made a business trip to Marysville Saturday. He was accompanied by E. Sutherland, and two stepsons, Dean and Robert McMinn.

E. Clymo of Sweetland had business in French Corral Saturday.

A meeting of the S. J. R. W. A. was held in San Juan Sunday. Along with other business transacted, it was decided to give a dance June 15th at San Juan. This dance will be given for the benefit of the Water Association and a good time will be assured to all.

The dance given at Camptonville Saturday night was attended by many from the Ridge. Miss Louise Moulton, Mrs. Sutherland, and daughter, Miss Barbara, Mrs. E. Chatty, and Miss Millie Clerkin from this place were in attendance and report a splendid time.

The O'Conner family of Birchville were visitors to Columbia Hill Sunday.

Mrs. L. Hardenbrook and son, Richard, of Los Angeles, Mrs. Mary Mitchell of Grass Valley, came Monday to visit their brother, Thomas Meyers of this place. Mrs. Hardenbrook and son will remain for some time.

Miss Louise Moulton, Mrs. Sutherland and son, Dean, made a business trip to Nevada City Monday.

Mrs. E. Chatty and children left for their home in San Francisco Tuesday. They were accompanied as far as Grass Valley by Mrs. Chatty's father, J. W. Culver, and Dr. A. J. Powell.

F. C. Keleher and M. Brady were Tuesday visitors. While they are at present staying in Marysville, they are not located there. Mr. Brady, who has traveled extensively through both hemispheres, is looking for a place to live among the hills. His friend Mr. Keleher though he might find the place in our vicinity, and we hope he may. Mr. Keleher was among the staff of Colgate employees thirty years ago. At that time French Corral might have been called Mecca for pleasure seekers. He has many pleasant memories of attending parties and dances at this place. As things had changed a good deal in thirty years Mr. Keleher stopped at the school huse to make inquiries.

Just at this time a surprise party for Mrs. Schwartz was in session and the gentlemen were asked to be our guests which they willingly did, for "old times sake".

Mrs. Schwartz's school closed Tuesday and the school patrons and children planned to give her a urprise. They stole in and came well supplied with cake and ice cream. An improptu program in which all tcok part was given and the afternoon was heartily enjoyed by all. Mrs. Schwartz was presented with a luncheon set, which she appreciated very much. Thus school was ended for the term. We hope to have Mrs. Schwartz with us again next year.

Mr. Kneebone of Kneebone Garage had business here Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Wood and little son, Carl, of Sweetland and Mrs. Wood's sister-in-law, Mrs. M. Christinson of Oakland, were Thursday viitors.

W. P. Clerkin returned from Pike City yesterday.

A. Browning and sons, Harry and Clyde, and Joe Swazey made a trip to Moonshine yesterday.

A force of men from this place are going to do some work on ditches today.

A little damp this afternoon as we had rain last night.
